Feedback through Menti

Background information on Feedback

What? Questions to help us understand the various resources that have an impact on municipality's decisions to implement a BPS or adopt stretch code

Why? Utility funders want to understand what resources are most valued by municipalities in making these policy decisions

Updated Flow Charts

Benchmarking and Building Performance Policy Setting Flow Chart

Benchmarking: Ongoing review of energy performance of existing buildings with the goal of informing and motivating performance improvements.

Building Performance Standard (BPS): Requirement that focuses on improving the existing building stock through setting minimum targets for efficiency upgrades.

Stretch Code Adoption and Implementation Flow Charts

A stretch code is an alternative compliance path that goes beyond the minimum base energy code requirements and defines a higher level of energy efficiency for new construction. If adopted by a municipality, the stretch code becomes the new minimum level new buildings must hit.
